Enclosed for the Bureau is one handwritten letter along with a page from Cosmopolitan Magazine and one envelope, all of which were mailed from Phoenix, Arizona.

Enclosed for Phoenix is a Xerox copy of the above enclosures.

For information of the Bureau and Phoenix, the above mentioned enclosures were directed to the Editor and Chief, HELEN GIRLY BROWN, Cosmopolitan Magazine, New York City, New York. The letter was obtained from the Head of Corporate Security, Mr. [redacted] 959 8th Avenue, New York, New York, on 12/6/85.

[redacted] advised that the letter when received by Cosmopolitan was handled by numerous individuals, but also advised that he had not seen a letter similiar to this in the past.

On the same date, Editor HELEN GIRLY BROWN was advised of the letter and stated she has never received anything of this type in the past. Both BROWN and [redacted] advised that they were not taking the letter too seriously, but stated that they wanted to make it a matter of record.

MEMORANDUM

FROM: ~~W~~ SSA DANIEL L. BERTRAND (C-9)

SUBJECT: FILE REVIEWS
C-9, MARCH 1986

b6
b7c

In recent months, especially since 1/1/86, C-9 has continually been assigned a greater investigative workload (ie. 163's, 31's, 145's) and during the same period a reduction of investigative resources (ie. transfer of SA [redacted] SA's to C-12 wire, two vehicles "surveyed" off the road). This situation has made it extremely difficult for C-9 to maintain its usual high standards; and as the work load continues to increase (ie. CAPMUR) and the resources continue to decline (ie. SA [redacted] to the "NA", SA [redacted] to SO-5) significant management steps must be applied to C-9's investigative case load.

This memo will be utilized to facilitate the "priority" and any "status" change for each case.

NY 66-

The C-9 Desk in the past has always endeavored to open only quality PCI "Origin" cases, however, has been unable to administratively control the volume or quality of AO investigations in the Fugitive and Personal Crimes Programs, which is a considerable portion (about 50%) of C-9's workload. C-9 management cannot control the quality, quantity, or demands of the AO workload, including 163's from FBIHQ, but C-9 management can control the quality, quantity, and demands of "origin" work. C-9 work is "Reactive" rather than "Pro-Active", and due to the nature of Fugitive and Personal Crimes violations C-9 can have no so-called "unaddressed work". Therefore the following management steps will be implemented immediately:

- 1) Agents will "prioritize" all of their cases and investigative activity according to the apparent physical threat to the public, rather than any political or administrative concerns.
- 2) Wherever possible and practical, and consistent with good judgement, I shall place origin cases in P* status for 90 days. This would likely apply to many 62E, old dog 88 and 164 cases, 178's etc.

During the C-9 file reviews scheduled for this month I shall personally discuss each case with each agent and a determination will be made as to the "real priority" of each matter, and where appropriate cause as many as possible to be placed in an RUC or P* status.
